Join Newfoundland photographer Dennis Flynn for a Sunday afternoon workshop for an hour and a half, followed by a photo walk around Landfall. This will be a practical session on getting better photos of landscape, or people, or pets—on how to use your camera to improve your shots of the things you'd like to capture. Dennis will offer tips for taking photos with cell phones or GoPro devices for sports and harsh environments, and photographing icebergs or fireworks or tricks for moving water. He will tell you about things he has found helpful in creating images for magazines, newspapers, and books. He says the same tips work with grandma, the puppy and the kids....

After your creative walk, come back to the cottage to review your shots, enjoy a hearty afternoon tea by the fire, and maybe even win a photo prize. Your registration fee of $40 will go toward cottage maintenance and repairs. To sign up, email admin@landfalltrust.org or call 722-2239. Registration limited to 12 participants.
